

Proposal For Music Next Tuesday Meets With Good Response

Committee Decides On Popular Form Of Subscription For Paying Bands Who Will Enliven Patriotism

EVERYBODY CAN SPARE A DIME AT LEAST

There is going to be some music on Registration Day. The proposal made by several prominent men of town has met with hearty response and the committee, composed of H. P. Dowler, J. E. Phillips and W. I. Betts, as suggested by The Progress have accepted the duties involved and worked out a plan of financing the proposition by popular subscription. Not one man is to be solicited for money to pay for a little music for next Tuesday when you and I, your son, your husband and your lover will walk up to the Registrar and put himself in line for a call from Uncle Samuel.

The committee felt that the music should be procured by public, free will offering and finally hit upon the plan of putting an offering envelope in the hands of every reader of the daily papers in the town and the little envelope attached to this paper is the receptacle which is crying out for your extra change this evening.

Give as your patriotic fervor prompts you. No one is asked for large amounts, simply make a free will offering of whatever you can spare to give cheer to the occasion next Tuesday. Remember, however, the more you give, the greater will be your part in the glory of the day. It will not be a holiday and whatever music will be engaged will depend on the amount of money available for it. The committee is sure they will get enough for a martial band and we all know there is nothing that creates the enthusiasm in the young men of our land so much as the sound of the fife and drum. If enough money is given by you tonight there will be both a drum corps and band to enliven the day. It is not the purpose of the committee to have a concert on the public square as it is known that all men will be working at their regular place of employment but it is suggested, however, that the musicians patrol the whole city. The highways and the byways will be traversed and the beat of the drum and the shrill notes of the fife will awaken the whole populace to the fact that a great nation is calling its men to the defeat of a common enemy who seeks to undermine the very life of democratic nations like our own. In colonial days the best of the drum and the sound of the fife was the signal for men to leave the plow and the anvil and shoulder the musket. Next Tuesday the sound of the drum and notes from the fife will be the signal for men to leave the plow and the anvil and register with the Government.

Don't permit this appeal to be in vain. The committee is anxious that the whole city join in the spirit of the occasion. Many have signified their intention of giving us as much as five dollars and while these are acceptable to the committee it is their desire that everybody have an equal share in the enjoyment of the day and small contributions of a dime and a quarter will be appreciated just as much.

Remember about eight hundred of Clearfield's young men will offer their services. They deserve some consideration. Let them know that this music is in their honor. You can spare a dime. You won't miss a quarter and a real sport will not stop short of a round dollar.

Now just a word as to what to do with the little envelope. You can leave it at any drug store or cigar store in Clearfield tonight. Do it tonight as the committee is anxious to know at an early moment how much money is available so they can make their arrangements for the music. The druggists and the cigar store proprietors will be glad to accept the envelope from you and will turn it over to the members of the committee on Monday morning.

Now all together in honor of the boys who will register.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The annual Junior and Senior banquet was held last evening in the gymnasium of the New High School building.

The gym was beautifully decorated and music was furnished for the dancers while others enjoyed games of various kinds.

An excellent lunch was served which brought to a close an evening long to be remembered.

Health Officer Scents Pigs And Finds War-Fostered Industry

Favorable Geographical Conditions Prompt Ambitious Barbers To Attempt To Capitalize Effort To Solve High Cost Of Living Problem

Secretary Wilson of the local Board of Health is thinking seriously of calling for volunteers to dig and man trenches along the borough line in the vicinity of West Walnut street. The necessity for this possible call to arms by the worthy health guardian is occasioned by the action of the commuters or urban natives in the territory immediately adjacent to the borough line.

These aforementioned ruralites all abreast of the times and as soon as being readers of The Progress keep abreast of the times and as soon as they noted the agitation for the re-establishment of the family pig at the hearthstones of our citizens straight away evolved themselves into a committee of the whole and appointed a sub-committee on subsistence with directions to secure for each and every family in the immediate neighborhood a cute little piggy, such step being deemed necessary as a measure of preparedness toward a finish fight with old h. c. o. l.

The committee went right to work and as a result of their efforts the pigs were secured and today each back yard from Gurney Smith's to Pearl Davis' on the south and the utmost confines of the "flat" every other direction, contains a dainty little pig pen, which houses from one to a pair of the cutest little curly-tailed bacon producers.

When the first squeal of Jack Mohnney's pig smote the ears of the health officer as he crossed the Market street bridge yesterday, that energetic official stopped short in his tracks and with his trained ear to the wind listened again for the fateful sound. He hadn't long to wait, according to the residents on West Front street, as they insist that Mohnney's pig and Smith's pig and Davis' two pigs were squealing a race with McKenrick's pig and Bricley's pigs and two other pigs whose names our informant failed to give us, and the unusual sounds were easy to follow.

The Health Officer could hardly believe his ears and when he saw six of those pigs on the hoof he could hardly believe his eyes either. The matter was discussed behind closed doors at the Borough Board of Health meeting last evening and drastic measures of reprisal are promised for the near future.

The pig owners are going to form an association and devise ways and means to meet any act of war upon the part of the health authorities, but expect war to the knife in the fall and are prepared for the worst and sausage to say nothing of the bacon and pigs knuckles.

In addition to stocking the family larder Mohnney expects to contract the entire output of bristles for a shaving brush factory which he and Pete Loddie are forming and from which they expect big returns now that the European war has stopped the importation of these chin ticklers.

Unless we miss our guess there will be another chapter to this pig story in the very near future.

Every Dog Has His Day But Drivers Don't Care

The More We See Some Drivers Speed The Fewer Pups are Left

The slaughter of the dogs of Clearfield by the automobile route goes merrily along with unabated fury, the records of the police department showing that three dogs had been slaughtered during yesterday, and the end is not yet; no indeed.

In addition to the victims of twentieth century locomotion, Constable Reiley went on the rampage against unlicensed dogs and a poor Fido who happened out without his registration tag fell victim to the officer's deadly aim.

A little yaller dorg disputed the right of way on Third street this morning with a flivver and when he emerged from the conflict or contact he was just about living evidence that Henry Ford did not confine his evangelical efforts to knocking the devil out of men and women, but went Billy Sunday one better by including a few ki-ki's in his list.

The pup's spinal column was dislocated in the region commonly known as the midriff and Officer Leavy was called upon to administer first aid in the nature of a 38 calibre sleeping position.

The execution occurred on Third street near the spot where Hummelbaugh's famous battle with Deacon William's potato hound started, but Bill's victim was unable to seek refuge in the Deacon's bathroom and was forced to give up the ghost where he lay on the street.

The local humane society is considering asking council to pass an ordinance requiring the placing of head and tail lights on all dogs upon which the tax for the current year is paid in an effort to cut down the slaughter of the canines.

Akron, Ohio, claims to have the largest Red Cross membership of any city of the country in proportion to size.

STATE MESSAGE TO RUSSIA NOT YET DELIVERED

State Department Queries As To Delay In Transmission Of Statement As To U. S. Aims

NOTE SENT TWO WEEKS AGO

(By United Press)
Washington, June 2.—The State Department today asked for an explanation as to what had become of this government's recent message on war aims sent to Russia to quiet the separate peace propagandists and solidify the Slavs against the Kaiser. This message was considered as a clear cut statement of America's view towards the war and is intended to encourage Russia. The last word received from Ambassador Francies at the State Department was on May 29. At that time he did not suggest that the message had reached Petrograd.

It was sent by code, possibly one of the codes in possession of Germany. No duplicate was carried by the Root commission as it was intended to serve as an introduction. The message may have been delayed on account of special business, but it is now two weeks since the note was sent and it simply cannot come under that excuse.

Governor Hanly Is Coming Here Soon

Will Speak in High School in The Interest of National Prohibition

Hon. J. Frank Hanly, of Indianapolis, former Governor of Indiana, will address a mass meeting of those interested in nation-wide prohibition at the High School auditorium on Thursday evening, June 14th.

Governor Hanly was chairman and leader of the Flying Squadron of America which did so much to awaken and strengthen the prohibition sentiment and resulted in half the nation going "dry," and is now the president of the Flying Squadron Foundation and Editor-in-chief of the National Enquirer. He is a lawyer of ability and an advocate of remarkable force and power, but has given up his profession to devote his life to the temperance work.

He will say things which you ought to hear, and as he is no stranger to Clearfield people his coming will no doubt attract a large crowd. Remember the date.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Sykes on Fifth street yesterday noon when Miss Ethel E. Bovard, a member of the faculty of Grove City College for several years, and Mr. Estle C. Carson, of Philadelphia were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeves of the First Presbyterian church, the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony being used. Only the immediate family of the bride were present. After the ceremony and congratulations the happy couple departed on the Pennsylvania train for an extended wedding tour.

The bride was a sister of Dr. C. C. Bovard of this city and a most highly accomplished young lady. Her husband is a graduate of Yale University in the class of 1914, and is at present engaged as a teacher in the Haverford schools.

125,000 MEN TO BE IN FRANCE THIS FALL

Plans Already Under Way For Transporting And Quartering Of Huge Guard Army

BEST TRAINED TO BE SENT

Washington, June 2.—Five divisions of the National Guard—about 125,000 men—will be in Europe before the snow flies if plans under consideration now before the army general staff are adopted. Action of the plan is expected either today or early next week, and the fact that one half of the cantonments for the new army have been abandoned add color to the belief.

The staff is understood to look favorably upon this plan. Ways of transportation confronts the Department, as one large vessel will only accommodate 2,000 men. The troops will be given a little training before they start but real hard intensive training they will receive either in Great Britain or in training camps in France. In case the troops are sent to France they will be located in French towns behind the lines and the necessity for supplying the heavy shortage of tents can be obviated. The best trained of the National Guard will be selected. They will supply one division of the regulars under General Pershing already arranged for. If transportation can be provided for the men will be sent before winter and will arrive to take part in the autumn drive and the big spring offensive.

PETROGRAD CITY TERRORIZED BY BANDITS

Things Released By Revolutionists Early In May Are Preying On Wealthy Men And Shops

POLICE BAREN'T MOLEST THEM

By William G. Shephard
(By United Press)

Petrograd, June 2.—Russian criminals released from prison during the first days of the revolution are making Petrograd increasingly unsafe. They are robbing and committing murders daily throughout the city. A band of heavily armed anti-anarchists raided the Movovsky district today bearing banners inscribed "Down with Authority—Long Live the Socialist Revolution." Speakers at public meetings urged the people to loot the banks. Many sailors and soldiers joined in the demonstration. The paraders were armed with rifles, revolvers and grenades. No attempt was made to arrest them.

Today a millionaire merchant, Gregoroff, was shot down at his mansion in the very heart of the city by three men. The trio claimed to be anarchists who demanded money of the millionaire. Militiamen and workmen hearing Gregoroff's cries for help killed one bandit, captured the second and the third committed suicide. The $15,000 which was forced from Gregoroff was recovered.

When the new democratic government took hold all the criminals were released from the prisons. They sought out all the cities and towns and are committing all sorts of crimes.

The unrest in Petrograd is augmented by the strike of 6,000 clerks in the shops of Petrograd. They want double wages. Many shops are closed today, and expect to remain closed. Some employers declared that even if the demands of the clerks were complied with they would not return to work. 25 shops complied with their employees demands.

J. S. Aughenbaugh of Glen Richey, was a Clearfield visitor today.

A local touch is given this call by the fact that seventy skilled mechanics of the Altoona shop force is included in the call. They are such time as needed under the plan for mobilization and mobilization.

STAR OF NEW DRAMA IS
CONSTANCE TALMADGE

Constance Talmadge is starred in the Triangle-Fine Arts production, "The Girl of the Timberclams," a thrilling romance of the "big tree country."

Miss Talmadge has the role of a girl homesteader who starts out to clean up a gang of claim jumpers who are taking land grants away from the settlers by fraud, and she cleans them up to perfection.

Threading the series of spectacular effects is a pretty love story. A fight in a burning cabin is one of the spectacular features. A. D. Sears plays the principal masculine role. The other principals in the cast include Clyde Hopkins, Wilbur Higby, Bennie Schuman, Joseph Singleton, F. A. Turner, Charles Lee and Mrs. Talmadge, mother of the star. Paul Powell directed the production.

"THE PRIMITIVE CALL"
Special at the Globe Theatre Monday

Gladys Coburn and an all star cast of Fox actors appear in the latest William Fox release, "The Primitive Call," which will be shown at the Globe theatre Monday.

Miss Coburn plays the part of Betty Malcolm, a girl who uses her influence to make an Indian chief sign a land contract with her father. She plays on the sympathies of the chief's son, Brain Elkhorn (Fritz Leibert), whom she had known as a college boy in the East. She is successful, but the Indian is infuriated when he learns the tricks by which she has lured him on. He gets his revenge on her, making her work as a squaw in his encampment.

Supporting Miss Coburn and Mr. Leibert in this excellent cast are Velma Whitman, John Webb Dillon, George Larkin and little Kittens Reichert. The picture was written and directed by Bertram Bracken.

Proposal For Music Next Tuesday Meets With Good Response

Committee Decides On Popular Form Of Subscription For Paying Bands Who Will Enliven Patriotism

EVERYBODY CAN SPARE A DIME AT LEAST

There is going to be some music on Registration Day. The proposal made by several prominent men of town has met with hearty response and the committee, composed of H. P. Dowler, J. E. Phillips and W. I. Betts, as suggested by The Progress have accepted the duties involved and worked out a plan of financing the proposition by popular subscription. Not one man is to be solicited for money to pay for a little music for next Tuesday when you and I, your son, your husband and your lover will walk up to the Registrar and put himself in line for a call from Uncle Samuel.

The committee felt that the music should be procured by public, free will offering and finally hit upon the plan of putting an offering envelope in the hands of every reader of the daily papers in the town and the little envelope attached to this paper is the receptacle which is crying out for your extra change this evening.

Give as your patriotic fervor prompts you. No one is asked for large amounts, simply make a free will offering of whatever you can spare to give cheer to the occasion next Tuesday. Remember, however, the more you give, the greater will be your part in the glory of the day. It will not be a holiday and whatever music will be engaged will depend on the amount of money available for it. The committee is sure they will get enough for a martial band and we all know there is nothing that creates the enthusiasm in the young men of our land so much as the sound of the fife and drum. If enough money is given by you tonight there will be both a drum corps and band to enliven the day. It is not the purpose of the committee to have a concert on the public square as it is known that all men will be working at their regular place of employment but it is suggested, however, that the musicians patrol the whole city. The highways and the byways will be traversed and the beat of the drum and the shrill notes of the fife will awaken the whole populace to the fact that a great nation is calling its men to the defeat of a common enemy who seeks to undermine the very life of democratic nations like our own. In colonial days the best of the drum and the sound of the fife was the signal for men to leave the plow and the anvil and shoulder the musket. Next Tuesday the sound of the drum and notes from the fife will be the signal for men to leave the plow and the anvil and register with the Government.

Don't permit this appeal to be in vain. The committee is anxious that the whole city join in the spirit of the occasion. Many have signified their intention of giving us as much as five dollars and while these are acceptable to the committee it is their desire that everybody have an equal share in the enjoyment of the day and small contributions of a dime and a quarter will be appreciated just as much.

Remember about eight hundred of Clearfield's young men will offer their services. They deserve some consideration. Let them know that this music is in their honor. You can spare a dime. You won't miss a quarter and a real sport will not stop short of a round dollar.

Now just a word as to what to do with the little envelope. You can leave it at any drug store or cigar store in Clearfield tonight. Do it tonight as the committee is anxious to know at an early moment how much money is available so they can make their arrangements for the music. The druggists and the cigar store proprietors will be glad to accept the envelope from you and will turn it over to the members of the committee on Monday morning.

Now all together in honor of the boys who will register.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The annual Junior and Senior banquet was held last evening in the gymnasium of the New High School building.

The gym was beautifully decorated and music was furnished for the dancers while others enjoyed games of various kinds.

An excellent lunch was served which brought to a close an evening long to be remembered.

Health Officer Scents Pigs And Finds War-Fostered Industry

Favorable Geographical Conditions Prompt Ambitious Barbers To Attempt To Capitalize Effort To Solve High Cost Of Living Problem

Secretary Wilson of the local Board of Health is thinking seriously of calling for volunteers to dig and man trenches along the borough line in the vicinity of West Walnut street. The necessity for this possible call to arms by the worthy health guardian is occasioned by the action of the commuters or urban natives in the territory immediately adjacent to the borough line.

These aforementioned ruralites all abreast of the times and as soon as being readers of The Progress keep abreast of the times and as soon as they noted the agitation for the re-establishment of the family pig at the hearthstones of our citizens straight away evolved themselves into a committee of the whole and appointed a sub-committee on subsistence with directions to secure for each and every family in the immediate neighborhood a cute little piggy, such step being deemed necessary as a measure of preparedness toward a finish fight with old h. c. o. l.

The committee went right to work and as a result of their efforts the pigs were secured and today each back yard from Gurney Smith's to Pearl Davis' on the south and the utmost confines of the "flat" every other direction, contains a dainty little pig pen, which houses from one to a pair of the cutest little curly-tailed bacon producers.

When the first squeal of Jack Mohnney's pig smote the ears of the health officer as he crossed the Market street bridge yesterday, that energetic official stopped short in his tracks and with his trained ear to the wind listened again for the fateful sound. He hadn't long to wait, according to the residents on West Front street, as they insist that Mohnney's pig and Smith's pig and Davis' two pigs were squealing a race with McKenrick's pig and Brickley's pigs and two other pigs whose names our informant failed to give us, and the unusual sounds were easy to follow.

The Health Officer could hardly believe his ears and when he saw six of those pigs on the hoof he could hardly believe his eyes either. The matter was discussed behind closed doors at the Borough Board of Health meeting last evening and drastic measures of reprisal are promised for the near future.

The pig owners are going to form an association and devise ways and means to meet any act of war upon the part of the health authorities, but expect war to the knife in the fall and are prepared for the worst and sausage to say nothing of the bacon and pigs knuckles.

In addition to stocking the family larder Mohnney expects to contract the entire output of bristles for a shaving brush factory which he and Pete Loddie are forming and from which they expect big returns now that the European war has stopped the importation of these chin ticklers.

Unless we miss our guess there will be another chapter to this pig story in the very near future.

Every Dog Has His Day But Drivers Don't Care

The More We See Some Drivers Speed The Fewer Pups are Left

The slaughter of the dogs of Clearfield by the automobile route goes merrily along with unabated fury, the records of the police department showing that three dogs had been slaughtered during yesterday, and the end is not yet; no indeed.

In addition to the victims of twentieth century locomotion, Constable Reiley went on the rampage against unlicensed dogs and a poor Fido who happened out without his registration tag fell victim to the officer's deadly aim.

A little yaller dorg disputed the right of way on Third street this morning with a flivver and when he emerged from the conflict or contact he was just about living evidence that Henry Ford did not confine his evangelical efforts to knocking the devil out of men and women, but went Billy Sunday one better by including a few ki-ki's in his list.

The pup's spinal column was dislocated in the region commonly known as the midriff and Officer Leavy was called upon to administer first aid in the nature of a 38 calibre sleeping position.

The execution occurred on Third street near the spot where Hummelbaugh's famous battle with Deacon William's potato hound started, but Bill's victim was unable to seek refuge in the Deacon's bathroom and was forced to give up the ghost where he lay on the street.

The local humane society is considering asking council to pass an ordinance requiring the placing of head and tail lights on all dogs upon which the tax for the current year is paid in an effort to cut down the slaughter of the canines.

Akron, Ohio, claims to have the largest Red Cross membership of any city of the country in proportion to size.

STATE MESSAGE TO RUSSIA NOT YET DELIVERED

State Department Queries As To Delay In Transmission Of Statement As To U. S. Aims

NOTE SENT TWO WEEKS AGO

(By United Press)

Washington, June 2.—The State Department today asked for an explanation as to what had become of this government's recent message on war aims sent to Russia to quiet the separate peace propagandists and solidify the Slavs against the Kaiser. This message was considered as a clear cut statement of America's view towards the war and is intended to encourage Russia. The last word received from Ambassador Francies at the State Department was on May 29. At that time he did not suggest that the message had reached Petrograd.

It was sent by code, possibly one of the codes in possession of Germany. No duplicate was carried by the Root commission as it was intended to serve as an introduction. The message may have been delayed on account of special business, but it is now two weeks since the note was sent and it simply cannot come under that excuse.

Governor Hanly Is Coming Here Soon

Will Speak in High School in The Interest of National Prohibition

Hon. J. Frank Hanly, of Indianapolis, former Governor of Indiana, will address a mass meeting of those interested in nation-wide prohibition at the High School auditorium on Thursday evening, June 14th.

Governor Hanly was chairman and leader of the Flying Squadron of America which did so much to awaken and strengthen the prohibition sentiment and resulted in half the nation going "dry," and is now the president of the Flying Squadron Foundation and Editor-in-chief of the National Enquirer. He is a lawyer of ability and an advocate of remarkable force and power, but has given up his profession to devote his life to the temperance work.

He will say things which you ought to hear, and as he is no stranger to Clearfield people his coming will no doubt attract a large crowd. Remember the date.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Sykes on Fifth street yesterday noon when Miss Ethel E. Bovard, a member of the faculty of Grove City College for several years, and Mr. Estle C. Carson, of Philadelphia were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeves of the First Presbyterian church, the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony being used. Only the immediate family of the bride were present. After the ceremony and congratulations the happy couple departed on the Pennsylvania train for an extended wedding tour.

The bride was a sister of Dr. C. C. Bovard of this city and a most highly accomplished young lady. Her husband is a graduate of Yale University in the class of 1914, and is at present engaged as a teacher in the Haverford schools.

125,000 MEN TO BE IN FRANCE THIS FALL

Plans Already Under Way For Transporting And Quartering Of Huge Guard Army

BEST TRAINED TO BE SENT

Washington, June 2.—Five divisions of the National Guard—about 125,000 men—will be in Europe before the snow flies if plans under consideration now before the army general staff are adopted. Action of the plan is expected either today or early next week, and the fact that one half of the contingents for the new army have been abandoned add color to the belief.

The staff is understood to look favorably upon this plan. Ways of transportation confronts the Department, as one large vessel will only accommodate 2,000 men. The troops will be given a little training before they start but real hard intensive training they will receive either in Great Britain or in training camps in France. In case the troops are sent to France they will be located in French towns behind the lines and the necessity for supplying the heavy shortage of tents can be obviated. The best trained of the National Guard will be selected. They will supply one division of the regulars under General Pershing already arranged for. If transportation can be provided for the men will be sent before winter and will arrive to take part in the autumn drive and the big spring offensive.

PETROGRAD CITY TERRORIZED BY BANDITS

Things Released By Revolutionists Early In May Are Preying On Wealthy Men And Shops

POLICE BAREN'T MOLEST THEM

By William G. Shephard

(By United Press)
Petrograd, June 2.—Russian criminals released from prison during the first days of the revolution are making Petrograd increasingly unsafe. They are robbing and committing murders daily throughout the city. A band of heavily armed anti-anarchists raided the Movovsky district today bearing banners inscribed "Down with Authority—Long Live the Socialist Revolution." Speakers at public meetings urged the people to loot the banks. Many sailors and soldiers joined in the demonstration. The paraders were armed with rifles, revolvers and grenades. No attempt was made to arrest them.

Today a millionaire merchant, Gregoroff, was shot down at his mansion in the very heart of the city by three men. The trio claimed to be anarchists who demanded money of the millionaire. Militiamen and workmen hearing Gregoroff's cries for help killed one bandit, captured the second and the third committed suicide. The $15,000 which was forced from Gregoroff was recovered. When the new democratic government took hold all the criminals were released from the prisons. They sought out all the cities and towns and are committing all sorts of crimes.

The unrest in Petrograd is augmented by the strike of 6,000 clerks in the shops of Petrograd. They want double wages. Many shops are closed today, and expect to remain closed. Some employers declared that even if the demands of the clerks were complied with they would not return to work. 25 shops complied with their employees demands.

J. S. Aughenbaugh of Glen Richey, was a Clearfield visitor today.

REGULAR OR DRAFTED?

In view of the fact that conscription is so near at hand, less than a week off, it must be considered rather remarkable that recruiting proceeds so slowly. The last official figures show that of the 183,898 men needed to bring the army up to its full war strength 85,276 have been obtained since April 1, leaving some 98,000 still to be secured. Pennsylvania carries the banner for the largest number of enlistments, 9,419—a figure which should be increased to more than 10,000 before registration day. In proportion to population some other states have done better, notably Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Indiana, which have furnished more than their quotas of men, but most of them have done much worse. It is possible that still more Western states will supply their full allotments by June 5, as Illinois, Michigan, Kansas and some other commonwealths have made notably good showings.

So far as patriotism is concerned no invidious comparisons should be made between the men who will be drafted and those who have volunteered for the regular army, the navy, the Marine Corps, the Naval Coast Defense Reserve, the National Guard and other branches of Uncle Sam's military establishment, but it is clear that if there is to be active service abroad and an opportunity for adventure and glory the chances will be much brighter for those who first take up arms. The navy may have a brush with the Germans any day, and General Pershing and his regulars will be on the firing line in France within a few weeks. The conscript army, on the other hand, may not see Europe until next spring, and if peace should be declared in the meantime they will not see it at all.

This fact seems to have been more clearly appreciated in the West than in the East, and as that part of the country possesses a greater proportion of ardent and adventurous youth its contributions to the regular army have been correspondingly larger than those of the East. Doubtless, too, the Western enlistments in the naval branches have been on a smaller scale than in the seacoast states, where the direct appeal is less striking.

Whatever cause of these curious discrepancies, it is not yet too late for the would-be general to show his fighting qualities and get into the fray by enlisting in the army or navy. The enlistment is only for the period of the war and carries no further obligation. The experience is certain to be interesting and possibly thrilling. The personnel of the regular army is fine and unsurpassed in the world. Like all the states Pennsylvania will have to do her full duty in the draft. It will be a great distinction also if she sends into the regular army a splendid array of her best youth, constituting her full quota, and thus presents a shining display of patriotism to the whole country.—Philadelphia Record

Lemons Beautify!

••••• lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness, softness, whiteness and beauty.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smootheners and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

THIS is the year of all years when it will pay you to place an order for your Paige, just as early as possible.

In the first place, there is every indication that the "sold out" condition of last year will be repeated.

Thousands of people have been watching the performance of this great car—studying the experience of owners—convincing themselves that Paige is actually first choice in the field of light sixes.

Then, too, you will undoubtedly be obliged to pay more for your Paige if you wait too long.

It is a matter of public knowledge that the costs of all manufacturing materials and labor have increased tremendously during the past year—and quotations are still climbing.

We have, of course, protected ourselves by early purchase. But our present supplies cannot last indefinitely and, in the face of a steadily advancing market, we shall be obliged to increase list prices proportionately.

So—for your own protection—now is the time to act. Don't wait until it is too late. Don't place yourself in a position where it will be necessary to compromise on a "second best."

Lesson X.—Second Quarter, For June 2, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERMON

Text of the Lesson, John xviii, 1-11. Memory Verses, 12, 13—Golden Text, John xiii, 3—Commentary, prepared by Rev. B. M. Stewart.

We certainly have today in regard to the International Sermon, a responsibility that is as great as that which was placed upon the apostles at the Pentecost. But we can believe it and stand in awe and before the Lord. The first sentence, "When Jesus had spoken these words, he went out over his disciples, and passed by the upper room that last evening, giving us truth in his presence every day and hour until we shall see him face to face, and then to be understood and appreciated as never before. It was a great pity, not to have a lesson in the International Sermon in which the apostles were the only ones who were with the Father before the world was. In verses 4, 5, 6, Jesus was on earth, was to glorify the Father and mankind. Jesus to glorify the Father, 12, that is why we are here in the world in His name. In verse 13, He gave eternal life and the glory which the Father gave to Him, that the world may believe and know that the word of life is in Him. In verse 14, that last evening, if I have preached correctly, the spirit of the Father is in me. He gave us the power to glorify the Father, the Living Father who had glorified him, and He would have us to glorify Him (John vi, 37). It is the Father who has given us the power to glorify Him, and we are to glorify Him by the Father, and not by our own power. Our Father, and that which deliver us from all sin and sorrow and lead us to glory, is the Father, the Father, for so it is written in the Bible (John vi, 37). Being made children of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ, we must be content to suffer with Him, and to share with Him the glory which He has given us. But always looking upward to the glory (John viii, 12; 1 Cor. ii, 12).

Turning to our lesson chapter, we see Jesus going forth from the upper room over the back door to the garden of Gethsemane because of the rebellion of His own people (John vi, 37; John i, 2). And we think of David, who was the same great hero of the rebellion of his own people (1 Sam. xviii, 16). But David returned and fought, and so with the Son of David in this time David also came to have victory of the betrayal by Judas, in John vi, 37, and in John i, 2. Jesus says that Peter, John, James, and Andrew, who were with him, were the power of the great name I AM, and we have just two words from Him and the Roman soldiers to the ground, then when they never would have risen again, but by His power. See the question of that name in John vi, 37, 38. Note the sword in the hand of Peter (John 18, 11) and see the sword of St. Paul, who would not have been enough for him (Acts xxi, 37, 38). How often we figuratively cut off people's ears, or in other words, prevent them from hearing the voice of Jesus by our sin or lack of love or boasting of some skill. We must see Peter with the sword, warning himself at their sin, and then saying that he knew the Lord (John 18, 15-18, 25-27). This is the man who said, "Lord, I will lay down my life for Thy sake" (John 18, 37). He meant well, but did not know himself. He was beautiful, brave, courageous, followed after and got into bad company. And there are many like him! If we were separated from the warning power of the world, we might surely get into trouble. The only way is to follow fully and avoid all suggestions where the Lord Jesus is not honored, unless by going, here, and there we can magnify Him. What a comfort it is to us to know that the Lord loved Peter though he did, prepared for him, brought him true peace by that loving, searching love, gave him a special personal instruction on the resurrection day and later gave special words by the son of God.

In verses 12 to 14 we see Jesus addressing the soldiers to take Him and bind Him and lead Him away, because the time had come for Him to suffer. To see Him consenting to be led from one to the other and be so fitly named by Annas, and Caiaphas, and Herod, and Pilate, and so patient before all, having us an example of how we should act as His representatives before the enemies and courts, is something that we should constantly consider (1 Pet. ii, 19-21; Heb. xii, 3, 4). How good was His reply to the high priest when asked concerning His teaching: "I speak openly to the world. . . . I have said nothing. . . . Ask them which heard me what I have said unto them. Behold: They know what I said" (John 18-21). Notice how they attack Him, and called Him an evildoer, yet He testified three times: "I did no fault in Him" (John 22:50, 55; Acts 4:6). His reply to Pilate, "My kingdom is not of this world; . . . now is My kingdom not from hence" (John 18:36), has been taken to mean that He will never have a literal kingdom on this earth, but only in the hearts of His people. Let such as think so read and believe Dan. vii, 13, 14, 27; Isa. ix, 1-3; Matt. i, 1-3; Jer. iii, 17; Ps. lxxiii, 3, 6; Luke i, 31-33.

To Whom it May Concern:

I have been suffering with headaches and nervous trouble for years. Last winter I was compelled to see a specialist out of town about my eyes and headaches. I have purchased glasses but without relief. I purchased glasses from Dr. Bone about three months ago and I can cheerfully say that all my eye trouble, headaches and nervousness is gone from which I have suffered for years.

Insure your crop by using this new solution. It's one kind of insurance that will yield big dividends this summer.

SPRAYERS?

ON THE SCREEN

STAR OF NEW DRAMA IS
CONSTANCE TALMADGE

Monday Night at the Tent Movies

Constance Talmadge is starred in the Triangle-Fine Arts production, "The Girl of the Timberclams," a thrilling romance of the "big tree country."

Miss Talmadge has the role of a girl homesteader who starts out to clean up a gang of claim jumpers who are taking land grants away from the settlers by fraud, and she cleans them up to perfection.

Threading the series of spectacular effects is a pretty love story. A fight in a burning cabin is one of the spectacular features. A. D. Sears plays the principal masculine role. The other principals in the cast include Clyde Hopkins, Wilbur Higby, Bennie Schuman, Joseph Singleton, F. A. Turner, Charles Lee and Mrs. Talmadge, mother of the star. Paul Powell directed the production.

"THE PRIMITIVE CALL"

Gladys Coburn and an all star cast of Fox actors appear in the latest William Fox release, "The Primitive Call," which will be shown at the Globe theatre Monday.

Miss Coburn plays the part of Betty Malcolm, a girl who uses her influence to make an Indian chief sign a land contract with her father. She plays on the sympathies of the chief's son, Brain Elkhorn (Fritz Leibler), whom she had known as a college boy in the East. She is successful, but the Indian is infuriated when he learns the tricks by which she has lured him on. He gets his revenge on her, making her work as a squaw in his encampment.

Supporting Miss Coburn and Mr. Leibler in this excellent cast are Velma Whitman, John Webb Dillon, George Larkin and little Kittens Reichert. The picture was written and directed by Bertram Bracken.
